The School of Business of the College of Staten Island of the City University of New York invites applicants for a tenure-track position as an Assistant or Associate Professor of Accounting, beginning in the fall semester of 2016.

We seek a candidate with outstanding teaching skills and evidence of a potential or distinguished record of scholarship, as well as a productive research agenda and a commitment to serving the institution and its community. Primary responsibilities include graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring in Accounting. Further responsibilities include committee and department assignments such as administration, supervision, and other functions. Specializations of interest include accounting, auditing, financial statement analysis and other areas of accounting.

The College of Staten Island (CSI) is one of 11 senior colleges of the City University of New York and the only public college on Staten Island. A comprehensive liberal arts and technology institution, the College offers degrees ranging from the associates to the doctoral level. CSI enrolls approximately 14,000 students and is located on a 204-acre park-like campus. The College is also home to the CUNY High Performance Computing Center and outstanding computational assets are available for research purposes, including a broad portfolio of statistical tools and social science data resources. The location enables faculty to draw on the vast economic and cultural resources of New York City, and provides opportunities for faculty to interact with practitioners in industry and researchers at other colleges and universities in the metropolitan area.

The School of Business has more than 2,400 majors and offers an AAS in Business, a BS in Accounting, a BS in Business with concentrations in Management, Marketing, Finance, and International Business, and a BA and a BS in Economics. The School also offers an MS in Business Management, an MS in Accounting, and a Graduate Certificate in the Business Analytics of Large-Scale Data. This wide range of courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels allows for flexibility in teaching assignments.

Opportunities exist to serve on the Doctoral Faculty of The CUNY Graduate School.

QUALIFICATIONS

An earned Ph.D. or equivalent in Accounting, or other appropriate area, and a demonstrated commitment to research, publication, and teaching is required. ABD applicants will be considered; however, their degree must be conferred prior to the first day of classes of fall 2016 in order to hold the position.

OTHER QUALIFICATIONS
Knowledge of multimedia instructional applications, experience with business/management simulations, and business experience is strongly preferred.
COMPENSATION

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

This offer is subject to financial ability and approval of the Board of Trustees of the City University of New York and contingent upon you providing the College with the requisite employment eligibility verification information. The terms and conditions of employment are those embodied in the rules and Bylaws of the City University of New York and the existing collective bargaining agreement.
