Lorenzo de’ Medici – The Italian International Institute has a campus in Tuscania. The school, an elegant and fortified building, is situated in the old town center near the medieval walls. It has a strategic position, being just inside one of the main gates of the ancient town. The building opens onto an exquisite internal courtyard with an adjacent lounge/meeting area.

Immersed in beautiful natural scenery on the edge of the Maremma area of Viterbo, Lake Bolsena, and the Thyrrhenium Sea, Tuscania is only 50 minutes from Rome and two hours from Florence. This ideal city can inspire the development of both the spiritual and the creative potential of an individual.

Eligibility Requirements: 2.75 GPA on a 4.0 scale.

Students register for one or two 3-credit courses. Courses are taught in English with the exception of the language classes.

Courses offered in Tuscania include:
- Anthropology
- Archaeology and Classical Studies
- Culinary and Nutritional Arts
- Italian Lang. (Elementary, Intermed., Advanced)
- History
- Music, Cinema, and Theater Studies
- Painting, Drawing, and Mixed Media
- Photography
- Sociology
- Writing

Archaeology Filed School
(6 credits; Session II only)
Exclusively offered at LdM Tuscania, explore major features of Etruscan culture and the methodologies utilized in classical archaeology. Play a full role in the excavation of an Etruscan necropolis near Tuscania, currently in phase three of its exploration. Work under professional supervision and in collaboration with students from the University of Florence. By examining material evidence, so abundant in this region, you will learn about the lives of the ancient Etruscans from archaeological evidence and literary sources.
