CSI STUDENT HOUSING/DOLPHIN COVE

Fall Occupancy
This year, move-in day for resident students was in two phases. Freshman moved in on Sunday, August 24, with President William Fritz greeting new students and their families by preparing his famous waffles. Returning residents moved in on Tuesday, August 26.

Staff Changes
Sadly we said so long to Nicole Weston, who was Dolphin Cove’s General Manager for the last eighteen months. Nicole moved to Georgia to be closer to her family and to become the General Manager of a new student housing start up near Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta.

Assistant General Manager, McKala Accetura, will assume the role of General Manager. McKala has experience as a Resident Director and as a Judicial Coordinator.

Latia Jackson is the new Resident Director, replacing Fortune Attardo, and Kelly Lopez is Dolphin Cove’s new Leasing Coordinator.

DESIGN SERVICES
The Office of Design Services, in collaboration with Advanced-Online stores, has developed a line of gifts and wearable CSI merchandise. Designs include sports teams and dolphin mascot, incorporating the College colors. Merchandise is available on line at

The CUNY Store
When you drive into the Victory Boulevard entrance of the campus beyond the guard booth, one of the first things you may notice is a burst of colorful marigolds hedging neatly. The space is enhanced by landscaped and manicured foliage. This is the creative handiwork of Jeff Westby, a member of the Campus Facilities staff. Jeff has worked at CSI for sixteen years and as part of the Facilities staff, one of Jeff’s responsibilities is planting, trimming and maintaining the shrubs, flower beds and planters throughout the campus. Jeff became interested in horticulture at a young age and learned his craft while working in several positions including working as a Park Ranger. Jeff learned about native plants, providing guided tours to identify plants and trees in Prospect Park. He provided those same tours on occasion at the Staten Island Greenbelt where he worked in forest restoration, using native plants and trees. Jeff worked with actress Bette Midler who founded the New York Restoration Project, an organization dedicated to transforming open spaces in under-resourced communities to create a greener, more sustainable New York City. Jeff also designed and planted the gardens at both Adobe Blues and Blue restaurants and many residential landscapes.

Recently the gardens around Jeff’s home were featured in SILive and can be viewed at: SILIVE/Jeff Westby

Not only is Jeff a talented gardener, he is an accomplished chef who caters events from 50 to 200 people, and he is a former actor with an active SAG (Screen Actors Guild) card. Jeff has appeared in off Broadway productions, episodes of “Oz” and “Homicide Life on the Streets”, and in commercials.

Jeff is a graduate of the Fashion Institute of Technology/SUNY with a degree in interior design. He likes to travel and is currently looking to purchase an apartment in Italy and travel throughout Europe, using Italy as his home base.
