Special Programs in partnership with the College of Staten Island is seeking a highly qualified and dynamic individual to serve as a Pre-Calculus Instructor for the STEM Academy. The STEM Academy is an intensive three-week program designed to prepare students for their upcoming coursework in computer science, chemistry, and pre-calculus in the fall. We seek a candidate with a deep understanding of pre-calculus and a talent for engaging and inspiring students in a short-term academic setting.

Responsibilities
- Teach pre-designed course material, ensuring students grasp and apply pre-calculus concepts effectively.
- Facilitate engaging and interactive sessions on graphing technology and online math software to examine practical applications of exponential, logarithmic, and trigonometric functions.
- Applicants should be able to provide clear explanations and use active learning strategies to motivate students.
- Monitor and evaluate student progress and adapt facilitation techniques to meet diverse learning needs.
- Maintain a dynamic and inclusive learning environment that fosters creativity and problem-solving.
- Address student questions, providing clear explanations and demonstrations to clarify complex topics.

Qualifications
- Instructors should have 3 or more years of experience teaching pre-calculus to a diverse student population.
- Excellent communication skills and the ability to engage students and clarify complex concepts effectively
