FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

The Department of Biology at the College of Staten Island invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of Lecturer to serve as the Program Director for the Medical Technology Program. The anticipated start date for this position is July 2019. This NAACLS-accredited training program is registered by the New York State Education Department. The successful candidate is responsible to maintain or improve our status as an accredited program, and for working closely with the Biology Department Chairperson, in conjunction with our Academic Advisor and Clinical Consultant, to interface with the local hospitals for didactic training sites.

The selected faculty member will be responsible for the following:

- The organization, administration, instruction, evaluation, continuous quality improvement, curriculum planning and development, and general effectiveness of the program.
- Participating in the budget preparation process.
- Engaging in a minimum of 36 hours of documented continuing professional development every three years.
- Maintaining NAACLS accreditation of the program.
- Having regular and consistent contact with students, faculty and program personnel.

The candidate is expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching courses currently offered in the program in addition to playing an active leadership role in the program’s development. Further information regarding the Medical Technology Program can be found through our website: http://www.csi.cuny.edu/departments/biology/medical-technology/

The College of Staten Island is committed to a diverse work environment that reflects the multicultural makeup of our student body. The successful candidate will be committed to inclusion and excellence. The Search Committee is especially interested in candidates who can contribute, through their program administration, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity of the academic community.

QUALIFICATIONS

The candidate must be a medical laboratory professional who has an earned Master’s degree in area of expertise. Must hold American Society for Clinical Pathology-Board of Certification or American Society for Clinical Pathology-Board of Certification generalist certification as a Medical Laboratory Scientist/Medical Technologist. A minimum of three years teaching experience is also required. The candidate should have a knowledge of education methods and administrative as well as current NAACLS accreditation procedures and certifications procedures.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS
Candidate with previous leadership experience in a NAACLS accredited Medical Technology program.
