Job Title: Industry Employment Specialist – CUNY Inclusive Economy Initiative

Job ID: 25895

Location: College of Staten Island

Full/Part Time: Full-Time

Regular/Temporary: Regular

POSITION DETAILS

The Office of Careers & Industry Partnerships (OCIP) at the City University of New York seeks Academic Career Advisors to create career pathways and expand employment opportunities for students in New York's emerging industries.

You will work with Industry Specialists to support a cohort of undergraduate students, connecting them with relevant internship or full-time opportunities in a selected industry.

The Department of Engineering & Environmental Science (EES) has strategic interests and strengths in the broad areas of Telecommunications, Photonics, Power generation and transmission and climate change among other things. Lately, the interesting area of off-shore wind (OSW) has been at the forefront of our faculty's interests since it promises to be very exciting from a research point of view as well as offer immense opportunities for employments and internships to our students. This hiring is directly linked to the OSW initiative in our department which has experienced strong external funding for our department as of late.

EES has a full-time faculty of 17 with over 15 part-time faculty members. On the Engineering side it offers the Bachelor of Science degree (BS) in Engineering Science (ENS) (with Mechanical (MechE) and Computer Engineering specializations) and the BS in Electrical Engineering (EE) and both degrees are ABET-accredited. An Associate degree in Science (AS) in Engineering Science (with EE and MechE specializations) as well as a Masters in Engineering (ME) in Electrical Engineering are also offered. The PhD program in Electrical Engineering is administered through the City College of NY (CCNY) with which our department is in close collaboration. Currently the department has over 600 students enrolled in all of its programs that also include BS in Earth & Environmental Science, BS in Earth & Environmental Science K-12 and a Masters of Science in Environmental Science.

Build a Community:

- Provide both group and 1:1 activity designed to help students identify career goals, academic courses, and goal-oriented career opportunities
- Develop your cohort’s identity as a peer network
- Help students plan for internships and other opportunities to build their experience in and exposure to workplaces
- Assess students’ professional abilities and development at several points throughout the cohort.

Establish a Peer Network:

- Participate in CUNY-wide professional development and mentoring
- Collaborate between academic/career advisors and academic departments on insights from employers that might influence curricula and individual student progress.

Create Pathways:

- Identify barriers to student success within areas of study related to career goals
• Share information on student needs and connect them to supportive services and campus resources
• Expand student exposure to careers and the courses needed to prepare for them
• Coordinate programs to enhance job-seeking skills.

Portfolio Management:

• Create plans for your cohort’s structure of programs, assessments, advising and referral activities
• Track progress, challenges and outcomes using state-of-the-art technology to measure success and make adjustments in real-time
