PSC-CUNY Proposals / Important Note: The internal, CSI deadline to submit proposals through the online PSC application system is close of business Friday, January 7, 2011.

FINDING FUNDING

Newberry Library Long-Term & Short-Term Fellowships
January 10 & February 10, 2011
http://www.newberry.org/research/felshp/fellowshome.html

Long-term fellowships are available to post-doctoral scholars for periods of six to eleven months. Applicants for post-doctoral awards must hold the Ph.D. at the time of application. These grants support individual research and promote serious intellectual exchange through active participation in the Library’s scholarly activities, including a bimonthly fellows’ seminar. The stipends for these fellowships range from $25,200 to $50,400. Applicants may combine these fellowship awards with sabbatical or other stipendiary support. Scholars may apply for any of the long-term fellowships using the same application.

Short-term fellowships are generally restricted to post-doctoral scholars, Ph.D. candidates, or holders of other terminal degrees from outside of the Chicago area who have a specific need for Newberry collections. Some fellowships, however, are open to other categories of applicants and Chicago residents. Please read the following descriptions carefully for the eligibility restrictions on particular fellowships. The tenure of short-term fellowships varies from one to two months, unless otherwise noted under the award description. Unless otherwise noted, the amount of the award is $1600 per month.

Sociology
National Science Foundation
January 15, 2011
http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=5369

The Sociology Program supports basic research on all forms of human social organization – societies, institutions, groups and demography – and processes of individual and institutional change. The Program encourages theoretically focused empirical investigations aimed at improving the explanation of fundamental social processes. Included is research on organizations and organizational behavior, population dynamics, social movements, social groups, labor force participation, stratification and mobility, family, social networks, socialization, gender roles, and the sociology of science and technology. The Program supports both original data collections and secondary data analysis that use the full range of quantitative and qualitative methodological tools. Theoretically grounded projects that offer methodological innovations and improvements for data collection and analysis are also welcomed. The Sociology Program also funds doctoral dissertation research to defray direct costs associated with conducting research, for example, dataset acquisition, additional statistical or methodological training, meeting with scholars associated with original datasets, and fieldwork away from the student’s home campus.

Social Psychology
National Science Foundation
January 15, 2011
http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=5712

The Social Psychology Program at NSF supports basic research on human social behavior, including cultural differences and development over the life span. Among the many research topics supported are: attitude formation and change, social cognition, personality processes, interpersonal relations and group processes, the self, emotion, social comparison and social influence, and the psychophysiological and neurophysiological bases of social behavior.

America’s Historical and Cultural Organizations
National Endowment for the Humanities
January 12, 2011
http://www.neh.gov/grants/guidelines/AHCO.htm

American’s Historical and Cultural Organizations grants support projects in the humanities that explore stories, ideas, and beliefs in order to deepen our understanding of our lives and our world. The Division of Public Programs supports the development of humanities content and interactivity that excite, inform, and stir thoughtful reflection upon culture, identity, and history in creative and new ways. Grants for America’s Historical and Cultural Organizations should encourage dialogue, discussion, and civic engagement, and they should foster learning among people of all ages. To that end, the Division of Public Programs urges applicants to consider more than one format for presenting humanities ideas to the public.

POSCO Visiting Fellowships
East-West Center
December 31, 2010
http://www.eastwestcenter.org/?id=99

The POSCO Visiting Fellowship Program is intended to promote research activities on Korean topics at the East-West Center. The Program invites outstanding scholars and policy makers to engage in policy-relevant, contemporary research on political, security, and economic issues in Northeast Asia, as they relate to Korea. POSCO visiting fellows are in residence at the East-West Center for one to two months and undertake research and writing on an agreed topic. Fellows are provided with a stipend and round trip economy airfare between their home base and Honolulu. They are required to give one seminar, prepare a high quality paper to be submitted for publication, and join in East-West Center activities. The Fellow may also be asked to participate in local outreach and public diplomacy activities. Proposals for cost-shared fellowships are welcomed. During the year 1 March 2011 through 28 February 2012 the East-West Center proposes to invite four to six visiting fellows. These fellows will spend one or two months each carrying out policy-related research on issues regarding Northeast Asia that are of common concern -- such as globalization, economic regionalism, economic restructuring, political change, and the changing East Asian security environment, including the Korean Peninsula. In particular, the POSCO Fellowship Program is intended to generate constructive and informative research on four important issues: (1) issues concerning the two Koreas and Northeast Asia; (2) security issues for Korea and Northeast Asia; (3) economic and social aspects of Korea-related issues; (4) political aspects of Korea-related issues.
Research Fellowships
Folger Shakespeare Library
March 1, 2011
http://www.folger.edu/template.cfm?cid=298
The Folger Shakespeare Library offers residential research fellowships to encourage use of its exceptional collections and to encourage ongoing cross-disciplinary dialogue among scholars of the early modern period. Each year scholars may compete for a limited number of long-term (six to nine months, application deadline Nov 1) and short-term (one to three months, application deadline March 1) fellowships. Awardees are expected to be in continuous residence and to participate in the intellectual life of the Folger.

SHORT-TERM FELLOWSHIPS:
Short-term Fellowships are supported by the Library’s own endowments and carry a stipend of $2,500 per month. Some Fellowship endowments seek to support scholars working on a specific topic or from a specific region, while others are unrestricted. See the list of specialized endowments on the Short-term Fellowships Application Guidelines page. Short-term Fellows are selected by an internal committee and one external scholar. The criteria for success are the same as for long-term Fellowships.

Research Fellowships & Fellowships for Creative and Performing Artists and Writers
American Antiquarian Society
January 15, 2011 & varying deadlines
http://www.americanantiquarian.org/fellowships.htm
The American Antiquarian Society offers three broad categories of visiting research fellowships, with tenures ranging from one to twelve months, to support residential research on the life of America’s people from the colonial era through the Civil War and Reconstruction. All of the fellowships are designed to enable scholars, advanced graduate students, and others to spend an uninterrupted block of time doing research in the AAS library on their projects and discussing their work with others.

AAUW Fellowships & Grants
American Association of University Women
Varying deadlines
http://www.aauw.org/learn/fellows_directory/
American Fellowships support women scholars completing doctoral dissertations, conducting postdoctoral research, or finishing research for publication; recipients must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents. International Fellowships support graduate or postgraduate study or research by women who are not U.S. citizens or permanent residents.

International Research Fellowships
American Councils for International Education
Varying deadlines
http://www.americancouncils.org/researchFellowships.php Administers several major grants for independent, overseas research in the humanities and social sciences. In recent years, American Councils scholars have conducted independent research in Albania, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kosovo, Kyrgyzstan, Macedonia, Moldova, Montenegro, Romania, Russia, Serbia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Ukraine.

American History & Aerospace History
American Historical Association
March 1 & March 15, 2011
http://www.historians.org/prizes/Jameson_fellowship.htm
http://www.historians.org/prizes/NASA.htm
Jameson Fellows spend 2-3 months at the Library of Congress for American history research. Aerospace Fellows undertake a 6-12 month research project in aerospace history.

Egypt
American Research Center in Egypt
January 15, 2011
http://www.arce.org/grants/fellowships/overview
Several fellowships available for postdoctoral travel and study in Cairo and Egypt.

Italian Renaissance
Center for Italian Renaissance Studies, Harvard
March 1, 2011
Resource Fellowships
http://www.itatti.it/menu3/fellow_home.html
Offers fellowships for research on the Italian Renaissance.

Multi-Country Research Fellowship
Council of American Overseas Research Centers
January 12, 2011
http://www.caorc.org/programs/multi.htm
Supports advanced regional or trans-regional research in the humanities, social sciences, or allied natural sciences for U.S. master's students, doctoral candidates, and scholars who have already earned their Ph.D. Scholars must carry out research in two or more countries outside the U.S., at least one of which hosts a participating American overseas research center.

American History
Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History
May 1, 2011
http://www.gilderlehrman.org/historians/fellowship1.html
Awards short-term research fellowships to scholars working in American history at every level from doctoral candidates to senior faculty, including independent scholars. The fellowships support research within American history archives in New York City.

Mellon Post-Doctoral Fellows
Haverford College, John B. Harford ’60 Humanities Center
January 31, 2011
https://www.haverford.edu/HHC/mellon_post-doctoral_program/index.php
Must have received Ph.D. in 2006 or after. Two-year fellowships in the humanities at Haverford College in Pennsylvania. Seeks scholars interested in the intersecting histories of technology, political economy, creativity, and power in the past and present. Area of specialization is open, but might include history, music, theatre, film, media and communications, anthropology, history of art, literature, sociology, philosophy, law, political science, religion, and cultural studies. Scholars with historical and interdisciplinary concerns are encouraged to apply.

Research in Germany
Alexander von Humboldt Foundation
Varying deadlines
http://www.humboldt-foundation.de/web/programmes-by-target-group.html
Various fellowships fund research stays in Germany.

Science, Technology, and Society
National Science Foundation
February 1, 2011 & August 1, 2011
http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=5324
STS considers proposals that examine historical, philosophical, and sociological questions that arise in connection with science, engineering, and technology, and their respective interactions with society.

Smithsonian Institution Varying deadlines; many are January 15
http://www.si.edu/ogf/fell.htm
Fellowships, internships, and other programs are available for scholars interested in working with the Smithsonian.

History of Technology
Society for the History of Technology
April 15, 2011
http://www.historyoftechnology.org/awards/hindle.html
Brooke Hindle Postdoc Fellowship. Applicants must hold a doctorate in the history of technology or a related field, normally awarded within the preceding four years, or expect to have graduated by the time of the award. (Those who graduated earlier and can demonstrate good reason why they should be considered as being at an early stage in their postdoctoral career—e.g., because of family commitments—may apply at the discretion of the committee chair.) Other awards may be held in conjunction with the Fellowship. A $10,000 award for research or writing in the history of technology for a period of at least four months.

Chinese Studies & Japanese Studies
Stanford
January 15, 2011 (Chinese) & October (Japanese) http://eas.stanford.edu/resources/postdoctoral.php
Applicants may be no more than five years beyond receipt of the doctoral degree for the Chinese Studies program, and no more than three for the Japanese Studies program. Both awards are 12-month appointments for research and teaching. These awards are open to scholars in the humanities and social sciences studying any historical period.

Mellon Post-Doctoral Fellows
Tufts, Center for the Humanities
February 1, 2011
http://ase.tufts.edu/chat/mellon/
Applicants must have received their Ph.D. within the past five years. Two-year postdoctoral fellowships for research and teaching. Fellows are expected to teach two courses each year. Fellows will teach one course in the spring semester of their first year and two in the second year of their residency through their home department or program.

William Andrews Clark Memorial Library
UCLA
February 1, 2011
http://www.humnet.ucla.edu/humnet/clarklib/fellow.html
The Center for Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Studies oversees a number of fellowships at the Clark Library. Fellowships are offered from the undergraduate to the postdoctoral levels, for both long and short terms. Exchange fellowships and visiting scholar status are also available.

African American Studies
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
January 15
http://www.afrl.illinois.edu/education/postdoc/
Applicants must have received a doctorate or appropriate terminal degree within the past four years. For scholars who study African Americans and/or transnational black populations in the U.S.

Vatican Film Library – Mellon & NEH
Saint Louis University
March 1, June 1, October 1
http://libraries.slu.edu/special/vfl/fllwshp.html
http://www.slu.edu/x196690.xml
Mellon Fellowships & NEH Research Fellowships are available. Supports research by scholars using the VFL's collections. Mellon Fellowships are for two to eight weeks duration. The Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies annually awards six five-week NEH Fellowships to scholars to use the Vatican Film Library and Pius XII Library and other resources.

Mellon Post-Docs – English, History, Women’s & Gender Studies
Rutgers
January 17, 2011
http://chronicle.com/jobs/0000647767-01
Candidates must have received the Ph.D. after August 31, 2006. Three two-year postdoctoral fellowships supported by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, one each in the Departments of English, History, and Women's and Gender Studies. Fellows will receive $50,000 annually as well as an annual research allocation of $2,000; they will also receive Rutgers University health benefits. Fellows will pursue research and teach three courses during the two-year term in the department of their appointment.

Emerging Professional Artists
Jerome Foundation
No application deadlines.
The Jerome Foundation grants program supports emerging professional artists, and is open to applications in all arts disciplines and across arts disciplines.

Sexuality Research
Ford Foundation
RFP will issue Fall 2011
Research into human sexuality is woefully underfunded, concentrated in biomedical disciplines, focused on individual behavioral change and often highly politicized. Little is understood of the social and cultural dimensions of this basic aspect of humanity. Moreover, research in developing countries and communities of color in the United States is not grounded in the realities of the communities. Our work seeks to fill the knowledge gaps so that public policy and programs can be informed by research-based evidence rather than assumed norms. In the United States and globally, we support efforts to strengthen and expand research that addresses the diverse social and cultural dimensions of sexuality and reproductive health. We also fund training for researchers to build the skills and resources to engage the public, policy makers and advocacy communities with new perspectives based on sound research.

Fullbright Scholar Program
Council for International Exchange of Scholars
August 1, 2011
http://www.iie.org/fullbright
The core Fulbright Scholar Program sends 800 U.S. faculty and professionals abroad each year. Grantees lecture and conduct research in a wide variety of academic and professional fields.

REGISTER WITH COS!
CSI subscribes to COS so that, whether your work is in the sciences, arts, or humanities, COS funding services can help support and advance your research. The electronic database is an aggregation of funding information that is verified for accuracy, updated for currency, and formatted for quick, targeted searching. With COS, you can save and share searches, track, tag, and share records, receive funding alerts by email based on your search criteria. Register here: http://www.cos.com/